Aguadulce

Listing ID: 3244108012

30-hectare fully flat property with versatile zoning, ideal for industrial, residential, and large-scale investment projects. The land use permits the development of warehouses, logistics centers, and storage facilities, making it an excellent opportunity for companies looking to expand operations or establish new infrastructure. The property also offers strong potential for residential developments, including housing communities or planned urban projects. Its size allows for the design of complete neighborhoods with green areas, road networks, and complementary amenities, making it highly attractive for real estate developers. Additionally, its zoning and extensive land area make it suitable for renewable energy projects, such as solar farms, offering a sustainable investment alternative with strong medium- and long-term returns. Strategically located just 300 meters from the Inter-American Highway in El Robl...
